NASHVILLE, TENN. SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 9, 1853.

WILL THERE BE A WAR IN EUROPE! The news from Europe, by the Africa, leaves this question as much in doubt as ever. The stock market, in London and Paris, which is the barometer that tells what is hoped or feared there in regard to it, fluctuates with every day. The London correspondent of the New York Commermarcial, writing under date of June 17, says :

Although a quieter view continues to be taken of the Turkish question, it still absorbs the atnow then a fortnight ago, and the only change of opinion with regard to her is, that she is moving in a more adroit manner than was supposed when the grandiloquent bearing of Prince Menschikoff stemed to indicate a reckless intention of proceeding to extremities by the most open means.

Just before the departure of the last steamer, the English stock market had experienced a favorable reaction, from a rapid rise that had suddenly taken place on the Paris Boursa, consequent upon the intelligence that the Czar had not my energetically deprecated the impression that he had any thought of risking the tranquility of Europe, but had also sent agents to France and the other powers with hasty despatches in order to explain his position. It was pointed out, however, in reference to these circumstances, that they were not accompanied by any disavowal of his original threats and pretensions, and were only to be regarded in the light of vauge professions which might or might not be used as a cover for obtaining further delay to mature his plans and diminish the watchfulness of his opponents. Accordingly the great bnoyancy which was the immediate result of the announcement, was not wholly maintained, and in the French funds and shares especially, which, owing to the extent of the speculative mania at Paris, are far more sensitive than English securities, the backward movement was rather considerable. The chief drop was occasioned by a telegraphic communiwhatever might be the nature of the negotiations between the Czar and the other powers, it was his positive determination that pending their conclusion his army should cross the Pruth, which divides R issia from the Danubian principalities, and occupy that portion of the Sultan's territories. This step, it was said, would take place on the 16th inst. (yesterday) when fifteen days would expire, which were the terms assigned for a categurical answer as to whether the demands of the Czer would be complied with; and although it was not unexpected in London, even supposing a pacific adjustment to be finally intended, it created considerable anxiety. It is believed to be wholly answarranted by any interpretation of the rights of lassis, under any possible contingencies, and the fear was that it might therefore constitute a casus billi, which, however they might be disposed to do so, neither England nor France could overlook, it they intend to take a real stand upon any stage of the conflict. To concede one illegal act would, of coerse, embolden Russia to commit another and another, until she had reached the desired consumm stion; and rather than the end should be accomplished in this way, it would of course be more for the dignity of the other powers, that they should give way entirely and at once. At the last date the price of consols was 98% ex div. They have since touched 981, but this morning, on a r port that the mediation of Austria had been accepted on the Turkish ouestion, they advauced to 99. Doubts, however, being thrown upon this statement, there was a reaction to 98%, and the market has closed at that quotation

So it appears from this, that there was nothing certainly known either in London or Paris, as to what Russia would do or would not do. But the effect of the reports did not stop with the stock merket. Wright, Gandy & Co., of Liverpool, in their circular of Jone 18, speaking of cotton, say : The trade remain inactive, and cannot be induced to depart from the principle of buying only to meet existing requirements; nor do we see much chance of a different course being pursued so long the political horizon remains obscure. Later adices from the Continent tend rather to beighten van allay the fears entertained for pacific solution of differences between disputing powers, and retrains commercial enterprise to a serious extent; much longer time cannot, however, elapse before question, we believe an active demand for all products would ensue. We cannot say, in the present state of the affair, how far the United States may be interested, financislly or commercially, in this movement of Russia. We do hope, however, that the right will triumph, and that it will not be necessary to engage in a war result so may we look for the restriction or exten-sian of trade. With an amigable settlement of the

A QUESTION FOR THE PROPER. - Col. Johnson once proposed certain amendments to the Constitution o give more power to the people. Majer Heary once advocated a change in that same sacred instrument, which would deprive the people of power, power, by restraining the voto of their agent on Major Heavy once opposed "the mechanics lien bill," and other measures of vital interest to the laboring man. Col. Johnson throughout his political life has shown himself the advocate of mecharies and working men. Which of them, we ask, has most disqualified himself by former acts to be Governor of Tennessee? Which of them is most entitied to the confidence of the people? Let the free and independent yeomanry of the country answer at the ballet box. - Marfreesboro' News.

THE CONVENIENCE OF BRING SHORT-SIGHTED .-There is a great convenience sometimes in being short-sighted. If you should happen to meet a creditor, or a friend who is rather "seedy," or a bore who is an untiring button-holder, you quietly pass on; and, when challenged with it afterwards, all you have to say is: "My dear fellow, I'm extremely sorry; the fact is I did not see you, I'm so excessively short-sighted." We know a large man in the city who is always short-sighted direct ly he spies out a poor relation, and yet drop a bank note at his feet, and you will see how very rapidly he will pick it up.

CONJUGATION AND AGREEMENT .- In a lesson in parsing, the sentence, "Man courting the capacity of bliss," &c., the word courting came to a pert young Miss of seventeen to parse. She com menced hesitatingly, but got along well enough until she was to tell what it agreed with. Here she stopped short, but the teacher said. "Very well, what does courting agree with!" Ellen blushed and bung her bead. "Ellen, don't you know what that agrees with?" "Ye-ye-yes sir." "Well, Ellen, why don't you parse that word!" Blushing still more, and stammering, Ellensays, "It agrees with all the girls, sir."

CPLEBRATED ARABIAN LINIMENT

THIS celebrated medicine, skillfully composed as it is of the most bealing by beanst and penetrating cells, can never sail to come almost every affliction that could be alleviated by an external remedy. Its apperiently over dil other lainiments is proven by the miraculous cares it performs, and by the great and conclusify increasing demand. There has been seld within the past year more than THREE MILLIONS OF ROOTLES, and there can be but low persons found who do not bestow upon it the highest praise for the rare virtues it passesses. Nothing, perhaps, since the creation of the world, has been so successful as an external remedy for all nervous discusses, as this wonderful curative. When applied, it instantaneously diffuses itself through the whole avetern, seething the irritated nerves, allaying the most intense pains, and creating a most delightful accustion. Read the following remarkable cure, which can be attested to by hindreds who were fully acquainted with the whole circumstance.

CHRONIC FNLARGEMENT OF THE TONSUS.

My daughter, when six menths old, was taken with a swelling in the tensits, which grew larger and larger, till when six years old she had great difficulty in swallowing her field. Every night watch was kept, fouring she would sufficente. The best doctors attended her but could give no relief. I took her to the most eminent doctors in the East, they said there was no help for her but to outgrow it. With a said heart I returned home with her, when she becames o much worse that the doctors had to be called in again; they docided that the tonsils must be cut off, as the only means of giving relief. My wife would not consent to this, and she determined to try your Limment, which gave relief the very lirst application, and by a continued use she entirely recovered. She is now ten years old and fleshy and boalthy as could be desired. Your thument is also the best in declor sprains, hruises, cuts, burns, headache ste,, and it will remove the most severe pains in a few days.

Look out for Counterfeits!

The public are continued against another counterfeit, which has lately made its appearance, called W. B. Farrell a Arabian Lautment, the most dangerous of all the counterfeits, because his having the name of Farrell, many will buy it in good faith, without the knot ledge that a counterfeit expense their agency when ists, and they will perhaps only discover their error when the spurious mixture has wrought its swill effects.

The groundment of its manufactured only by H. G. Farrell, sole inventor and proported, and whole sale divergest, No. 17 Main street, Peoria, Illinois, to whom all applications for Agencies must be addressed. Be sure you get it with the leners H. After Bome was subjugated by the hoards of northern bar barians in the fifth century, the luminaries of science that had shone with such effulgence upon the Greeks and Ro-mans, were almost extinguished, and for ages the world lay in an interminable night of meetal and moral gloom.
